The Contract for Supplies and Desks.

Divided up Among Several Parties—E. P. Bancroft Refuses Part of a Contract—J. R. Scotchler Files a Protest.

Board of Education.

When the roll was called last evening it was discovered that Directors Wickson, Niehaus and Boone were absent. Director Geo. M. Robertson was chosen president pro tem.

Minutes of previous meeting read and approved. The Committee on School Houses and Sites made the following report: It awarded the contract for painting the Kellogg School to C. B. Fitch for the sum of $210. The painting of the Lorin School to W. R. Sears for the sum of $190. The painting of the Seventh street school to J. R. Ayer for $75, and the painting of the roofs of the smaller buildings on the Kellogg school lot to F. R. Woodward for $30. The report of the Committee was adopted by the Board.

The Committee on Supplies reported that it had awarded a contract for supplying one portion of the articles needed to E. P. Bancroft of Berkeley, a second part to Bancroft Bros. of San Francisco and a third part to Cunningham, Curtiss & Welch of San Francisco; the desks to C. F. Weber, and the tables and chairs to George E. Fuller. The contracts were awarded with the understanding that any articles wanted in the various lines, during the year, should be furnished by the different contractors.

Mr. E. P. Bancroft refused to receive part of a contract and Mr. J. L. Scotchler, who bid on the desks, entered the following protest:

BERKELEY, Cal., July 15, 1895.
To the Hon. Board of Education of the Town of Berkeley:

GENTLEMAN—I hereby make protest against the proposed action of your Board in the matter of awarding contract for providing school furniture for the fiscal year 1895-96, upon the ground that the published notice to contractors did not state the fact that it was your intention to so award contract for one year or for any specified time. What said notice merely called for proposals to furnish a specified number and specified descriptions of furniture. Copy of said notices accompanied my bid to your honorable body dated July 8, 1894. Respectfully,
J. L. SCOTCHLER.

After some discussion the whole matter was referred back to the Committee on Supplies with power to act.

The Committee on Supplies was authorized to purchase three clocks and 50 feet of rubber hose for the San Pablo avenue school house.

The Town Engineer reported that it would be difficult to connect the North Berkeley school house with a sewer without going a long distance unless permission could be obtained to cross a private lot. After talking the matter over it was concluded to do nothing in relation to the sewer at present. Earth closets will probably be used.

Florence Addington and Anna J. Hopkins filed applications for positions as teachers in the department.

Plans for outbuildings of the North Berkeley school were laid before the directors and after examining and fully discussing them they were referred to the committee on School Houses and Sites with power to act.

Guy H. Chick, superintendent of streets, sent a communication to the Board calling attention to the trees in front of the Kellogg school. They interfered with public travel and should be trimmed off. The matter was referred to the committee on School Houses and Sites directing it to have the trimming done.

On motion adjourned.
After the adjournment as a Board of Education the members came together as a committee of the High School Board. The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved and then they adjourned.

West Berkeley Progressive Club.

The attention called by the GAZETTE last week to the members of this club to be in attendance, had the desired effect and more was accomplished at that meeting than any one held for a month previous. New life was put into the club and the members felt more confidence in themselves.

On Friday evening next there will be a regular meeting of the Board of Trustees and it is very important that the West Berkeley Progressive Club should, at their meeting this evening, get things into shape so that the wants of West Berkeleysans may be made known and some attention paid to them.

In accordance therewith it is quite necessary, not only that all of the members should be present but that each member should endeavor to get at least one man to sign the roll. Be sure and attend. It is a business matter for all.

Stewart's Tannery.

A visit was made to Stewart's tannery, this morning upon other business but it did not prevent a GAZETTE representative from taking a few notes.

Mr. Stewart is introducing steam pipes through the upper portion of the building for the purpose of aiding in his drying process. He reports business very good and has put on four more men than usual. The whole place has the appearance of activity and goes to show that there is a gradual growth of this Berkeley industry. This tannery has a reputation of turning out as good leather as is made anywhere in the world. The eastern demand is gradually increasing and hence the increased activity at the works.

Malicious Fake News.

Last week the Associated Press papers of San Francisco published an item of telegraphic news stating that the Naval Constructor and Civil Engineer at the New York Navy Yard were to exchange places with officers of the same grade at the Norfolk Navy Yard. Advices by mail state that there was not one word of truth in the dispatch. It was a malicious fake set a-going for reasons which as yet have not been found out.

Whiting's Property.

The romantic story that was told with reference to Professor Harold Whiting's premonition of disaster when he prepared to leave on the ill fated Colima has been exploded. The dead collegian, it was said, had made two wills before he left Berkeley with his family to return to his Massachusetts home. He had made a disposition of his property, fearful that some accident might befall him during his round about journey.

Inquiry was made by some of the deceased Professor's friends in Berkeley as to the reports regarding the making of the testaments. Eastern attorneys who were said to have received the documents denied any knowledge of them.

The final result of the investigation showed that Professor Whiting had left no will, and such property as he left in this State would fall into the hands of Public Administrator Knight. That official is now engaged in an investigation of the affairs of Whiting. He has already ascertained that the latter had no relatives here, and an application will be made very soon for letters of administration upon the estate.

There is some property belonging to Whiting at Berkeley. Such as may be found will eventually reach his relatives in Massachusetts.

Injustice of the Law.

John Long was mulcted $8.10 for obtaining money under false pretenses. The Advocate has not been mulcted one cent for being guilty of the same charge, viz: Swearing to a bill against the town and obtaining the money before the goods were delivered.

Judge Sanderson has overruled a demurrer in the Robinson-Railroad cases and the trial will go on.

Mr. Freese of East Berkeley, who has been visiting in the State of Maine, has returned to his home in Berkeley.

A decision that the bounty on beet sugar made previous to August 28, 1895, will distribute about $200,000 among the manufacturers on the Pacific Coast.

A sign at East Berkeley announces apa soda for sale. Some miscreant had torn off the letter n in front of the apa. Some people laughed at it when it was observed.

Life saving crews situated about San Francisco will have a practice drill next Sunday at El Campo. There will be a drill with the life boats and everything done in the case of a shipwreck will be performed.

A new engine of 200 horse power has been installed by the Electric Company of Berkeley. The old engine of 90 horse power belonging to the town was sufficient to supply the town with arc lights but not sufficient for the incandescent lights for private parties in addition.

Hugo S. Aldrich has commenced a suit against the Oakland Times on a charge of criminal libel. He was a candidate for the position of Chief of the Police at Oakland and this paper's comments on his previous life were made in such a manner that the attorney considered it libelous. Hence the legal proceedings.

OAKLAND WINS.

Judge Ogden Decides in Favor of

The City of Oakland in The Matter of Water Front Litigation

The Southern Pacific Company Only to Have Such Portion as They Have Improvements Now Built Upon.

Judge Ogden's Decision.

Judge Ogden rendered his decision in the Oakland Water Front case this morning and it was in general a decision in favor of Oakland.

He said that the water front was all the property of Oakland and that Oakland had the right to build wharves upon it and open streets through it, except that portion upon which the railroad company had built permanent improvements. The decision was quite lengthy but the above is the gist of the whole matter.

It will be seen by this decision that the Railroad Company can only hold possession of the wharf at the foot of Broadway, the wharf at the foot of Peralta street and the Oakland mole. This is indeed good news for Oakland and the whole State.

Evidently Ashamed.

A correspondent on the Advocate who is evidently ashamed of his or her name, and who sighs a communication "Student," evidently does not like the GAZETTE and in order to criticize an editorial in its columns, deliberately tells two or more lies. The correspondent starts in by saying that "the carrier of the Berkeley GAZETTE, probably under the direction of its editors or its business manager, was kind enough to leave one of the Saturday evening papers on my door step, it being supposed, I presume, that the sight of 'Town Official Paper' on its title page would at once make me a 'constant reader.'"

We would like to enlighten the correspondent a little in this matter. In the first place the editors or business managers of the GAZETTE do not have the carriers throw papers upon the steps of any ones house except subscribers. We suppose, however, that "Student" either steals or borrows the GAZETTE from his neighbor, we should judge the latter for we have no doubt but what "Student" is a "constant reader" of the GAZETTE as he states further on that in an article recently, the GAZETTE stated that its readers need not go to San Francisco papers to get the news which is evidence that the GAZETTE is no stranger to "Student." The correspondent then goes on to say that the editorial was stolen from the Examiner, and is remarkable as a study in English and the writer feels sorry to think that the GAZETTE goes out into the world as the official representative of Berkeley whose hills are crowned with the halls of learning.

Anyone of the handful of people who read the Advocate will agree with us that "Student" has need of a great many visits to these halls of learning before he is able to criticize what others write, but as he puts his correspondence in a sheet whose editor has the same need of a few years study in these halls of learning, or in a paper that never goes out into the world as the official representative of Berkeley or of anything else, we feel that we have already wasted too much time and space upon him and his scribble, which he was ashamed to sign his name to. Maybe he was ashamed to have it appear in the Advocate, if so, we do not blame him.

The engineer officers appointed specially to examine the lot purchased for a postoffice site at San Francisco have made a very favorable report to the Secretary of the Treasury. They say "we are of the opinion that the building can be safely constructed upon it" and that the construction of the building should be proceeded with. They estimate the cost of the foundation at $39,549.

Mr. Charles Rooney began to have some favorable symptoms last evening about midnight and they have continued today. Not very fast but to a degree that gives his friends hopes that he will gradually recover. The attack was so severe that it will take time, if everything goes on favorably, for him to recover.

The Socialist which made its first appearance last Saturday says: "We believe that socialism is essentially a scheme of right and justice to all." The words, "Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself," represent the fundamental ethics of socialism. The paper is started for the purpose of telling the people just what socialism is. There are quite a number of socialists in Berkeley and they are certainly increasing.

The many friends of E. H. Driggs, the popular oil dealer, will be sorry to learn that his son Waldo met with quite a severe accident a few days ago. It seems that both of his boys while playing found a loose plank in some flooring, and Waldo desiring to see what was under it had his brother hold it up. This he did for a few seconds but it was so heavy that he had to drop it. It struck Waldo on the face knocking out some teeth and breaking the jaw. Medical assistance was at once summoned, and the boy is getting along as nicely as possible.

TOWN OFFICIAL PAPER.

TUESDAY, JULY 16 1895

BERKELEY'S INDUSTRIES.

While wending our way about town for the purpose of becoming familiar with the different industries being carried on in the town, most of the establishments visited have been of the larger size. There are a great many of the smaller size which bid fair to grow in importance and soon raise their rank in the amount of business accomplished during the year.

These comparatively small factories or manufactories are well sprinkled all over Berkeley. On nearly all of the principal streets one can find a place where merchants of one class or another are employed.

Perhaps the workshops which show the greatest total are blacksmiths. There are general mechanics of this branch of the service and there are also those who deal in specialties. While at the latter there are few, on account of business being too small as yet to give constant employment in any one branch, in the former there are many who in order to supply the various wants of the farmer and transient custom have to become all-around mechanics. In some of the blacksmith shops one can not only get his horse shod but can have a lumber or hay wagon built to suit him, as well as trucks for horses to pull and trucks for men to wheel. In fact wood and iron working are consolidated in the establishment and even small machinery is often made, so that the enterprise carries on and employs men who work well at two or three different trades.

As yet Berkeley has neither an iron nor brass foundry, although the time is getting near when a place combining the two interests will be made good paying investments. There is already one machine shop, which with specialties manages to get along with work nearly all the year round.

The combination of a foundry, both iron and brass, with a machine shop in West Berkeley will be a good paying business before many years. The cheapness of land and the nearness to a market gives this town a great many advantages over such places in a large city where everything requisite for the business is so expensive. The rent alone of a plant of this kind at San Francisco would be an ample income for any man who has good, common-sense, moderate ideas of his expenditures. Distance is almost annihilated in these days of telephonic connection and orders for work to be done in Berkeley can just as well be taken in San Francisco as elsewhere and the orders can be immediately transmitted by wire. Bidders on advertised work can be had in this town as well as anywhere else after the plant is once established. The cheapness with which work can be done here will always be in our favor.

What we want just now is people with money and experience to build up the manufacturing part of the town. With large cities around us in easy distance for connection the enterprise mentioned above would have so many advantages that competition from other places would cease before many years from circumstances they could not control.

As an example a new match factory is just being started here. It is not for a moment thought that it was only for supplying alone within the town limits. It will reach out and find a market not only in all parts of the State but all over the Coast with a good chance to get orders from Mexico and the many islands in the Pacific. In order that people beyond our limits may know what we can do our people should advertise thoroughly and then customers will be sure to come and buy. If the world does not know what we have got to barter how can it be expected that they will get search lights and dig us up. Business is not carried on that way now-a-days. The best advertiser makes the most money and customers think of a town by the merchants who do their advertising. Attention of Berkeleyans is called to these matters. Stand up straight and let your friends in the distance know that you are going to be up and doing.

It is said that on Friday next some of the deputy sheriffs of this county will receive a severe raking over the coals at the hands of Governor Budd and Attorney-General Fitzgerald. One deputy in particular sent in a bill for expenses at a hotel in Santa Clara for two days and also for railroad fare. This the Attorney-General finds is not a true bill as the deputy did not stop at a hotel two days nor did he pay any railroad fare, as he traveled on a freight train. It is the intention of the Attorney-General to prosecute this deputy on a charge of perjury unless Sheriff White can make a satisfactory showing for him. There is no doubt but that in the past the State has been defrauded of thousands of dollars by the Sheriffs of different counties by overcharges, and it is time that a halt was called on this wholesale plundering of the State Treasury, and from our knowledge of and acquaintance with Judge Fitzgerald we know that he is the man to stop it.

THE English press, in its comments upon the naval display at Kiel, is full of praise for the Italian, French and Russian ships, but bestows praise very grudgingly upon the American vessels. We can stand it, however, since one of the most eminent naval authorities in England, William Laird Clowes, has spoken in the most flattering terms of the American squadron, and his opinion is worth that of a score of the pretentious correspondents and "leader" writers who contribute so largely to the daily and weekly English press.—S. F. Chronicle.

THE Cornell Glee Club which went over to England with the Cornell Boat Club, had made a great many dates for their appearance in different parts of the country but after the rowing fiasco, all the dates were cancelled and the Glee Club is now disbanded and the members are now travelling in different parts of the continent. The cost of travelling expenses of the Glee Club was $8000 and of the Rowing Club $5000, all of which is a total loss. It is not probable that Cornell will send any more boat crews or glee clubs to England after this signal failure.

Mrs. Andrew J. Rickoff, who disappeared on Saturday last and was found at the Pleasanton in San Francisco, disappeared again yesterday morning and has not yet been found. It is feared that she is temporary insane over the illness of her husband, and on account of nervous prostration, caused by overwork in her educational matters.

Arthur Sherman and Frank Lockyer left yesterday for Santa Margarita, Southern California, a distance of about 200 miles.

Wanted—Young girl 14 or 15 years of age to take care of child, $8.00 a month. Inquire at Fonzo's Cafe. 65

SOME OLD TRADE TRICKS.

How They Were Punished Five or Six Hundred Years Ago.

Cheating in trade is no new thing. It was practiced in the fourteenth century as well as in the nineteenth. Our town records contain many cases of summary jurisdiction in matters affecting the price, weight and quality of food, clothing and other things.

I call a few from the archives of the city of London. In 1348 proceedings were taken against a butcher for selling putrid meat. Three reasons were alleged against this conduct at his trial before the mayor and aldermen. It was deceitful and dishonest; dangerous to the public health; it brought scandal and disgrace upon the mayor, corporation, and all the inhabitants of the city that a Londoner should behave so. After the investigation he was found guilty, and condemned to be taken, with his bad meat carried in front of him, to the pillory in Cornhill, and while he stood therein the carrion he had tried to sell was burned under his nose.

It is well known that the pillory was an instrument in which the culprit was fixed, incapable of movement, exposed to the contempt of the people. The offense of the culprit was always publicly proclaimed, and, according to the views of the spectators, the punishment might be severe or otherwise. If they disliked the offense of the offender, their contempt would take the proverbial and forcible form of rotten eggs and dead cats, and the trader would make a closer acquaintance with his own wares, both raw and cooked, than he might find pleasant.

A publican, convicted of selling un sound and unwholesome red wine, was sentenced to drink a draft of the same stuff which he sold to the common people, the remainder being poured on his head, and compelled to forswear the calling of a victuiner in the city of London forever, unless he could obtain the favor of the king. A note on the record states that he was readmitted five years later.

About the same time we find a woman charged with selling ale in a short measure quart pot, the bottom of which she had thickened with pitch and covered with rosemary, to look like bush in the sight of her customers. It was a common practice to put some sort of evergreen leaves in the bottom of tankards—hence the proverb, "Good wine needs no bush." Her sentence was to stand in the "thief," or female pillory, with half of the pot attached to it. As far as possible, the cause of the offense was always exhibited along with the person punished.

Severe punishment was meted out for endeavoring to raise the standard market price of corn and other articles. In 1347 a merchant was imprisoned for 40 days for enhancing the price of his own property. He secretly employed a man to bring certain of his own (the merchant's) wheat to the market, whereupon he bought his own at twice more per bushel than the market price, of course taking care to make the same well known, forgetting, however, to state what he knew about the seller.—Chicago Herald.

New Treatment For Burns.

A Paris medical man of resources and alternatives had in hand a case of severe and extensive burning, caused by boiling water. So deep was the injury that the healing process was greatly delayed. The patient's family objected to skin grafting, which seemed to be the only way to accelerate the process of recovery, and the doctor, as an experiment, applied the internal membrane of the hen's egg—the white film with which everybody is familiar. The injury must have progressed beyond the suppurative stage and shown signs of healthy healing. A freshly laid egg is broken and the membrane immediately cut into narrow strips and laid carefully across the raw surface, then antiseptic dressings are applied with carbolic solutions, and the whole is covered by tin foil. In a number of cases this procedure has been eminently satisfactory.—New York Ledger.

The Quarter Came Back.

"Excuse me, sir," said a Woodward avenue car conductor to a passenger riding on the platform with him the other morning, "but can you change a quarter?"

"Is it a plugged quarter?" cautiously asked the passenger.

"Yes, sir; plugged in two places."

"Get it about a week ago?"

"Yes, sir."

"From me?"

"Yes, sir."

"No, I can't change it. I carried that old coin around about three months and offered it to at least 50 conductors before you took it, and having finally worked it off I can't take it back. If you want to borrow two tens and a five, all right, but I can't take plugged quarters—can't possibly do it, even to oblige."—Detroit Free Press.

Castles In The Air.

"Castles in the air," to indicate dreaming projects, is an expression which first occurs in the writings of Sidney. It is believed, however, to be much older than his time. In the form "castles in Spain" it is found in the French literature, while the Latins had an expression "castles in Asia," and the Hindus rendered it as "castles in the moon."

A Little Too Much.

They do not speak now.—New York Weekly.

The cold of Canada seems to diminish with an increase of population. Between 1828 and 1887 Hudson's bay was closed an average of 184 days every year; now its ice lasts 179 days.

Algiers is so called from the Arabic words Al-Jezair, meaning "a peninsula."

HUMAN SUFFERING.

Nine-tenths of It Is Useless and Could Be Avoided.

Go through a crowd of people, preferably city people; examine the tired, anxious, wasted faces; remember your life and the lives of the men whom you have known intimately; recall the violent deaths, the suicides of which you have heard, and ask yourself the reason of all this death, suffering and despair. And you will see, however strange it may appear, that the cause of nine-tenths of human suffering is the present life of the world; that this suffering is useless; that it could be avoided, and that the majority of men are martyrs to worldly ideas.

Recently on a rainy Sunday I crossed the market near the tower of Soukharev in a street car. For a third of a mile the car made its way through a dense crowd that closed in again behind us. From morning till evening these thousands of men, most of them hungry and in rags, jostle each other in the mud, dispute, deceive and hate each other. The same thing goes on in the markets of Moscow and other cities. These men will pass their evenings in the wine shops and afterward will seek their holes and corners. Sunday is their best day. Monday they begin again their accursed existence.

Think of the existence of these men, of the situation which they abandon and of that which they choose. Consider the labor to which they give themselves, and you will see that they are martyrs.

All have left their fields, their houses, their fathers and brothers, often their wives and children. They have renounced everything and come to the city in order to acquire that which the world considers necessary. All of them are there, from the operative, the coachman and the seamstress to the wealthy merchant, the office holder and the wives of all of them, to say nothing of the tens of thousands of unfortunates who have lost everything and live on scraps and brandy in the free lodging houses. Go through this crowd; watch poor and rich alike; look for a man who says that he is satisfied and believes that he possesses what the world deems necessary. You will not find one in a thousand.—Count Tolstoi.

BOTH PAPERS WERE USEFUL.

The Fortunate Result of a Tennessee Justice Mixing His Documents.

Bill Wright was a justice of the peace, and also an absentminded man, whose wife was as able an orator as Xantippe.

Bill used to serve all his processes himself and to save time would sign the marriage certificates in blank and deliver a number to the parson.

One day Bill had a process to serve away up in the mountains on a semibarbarous recluse, who was sued for damages for some deeds, and Bill thought he would deliver a few of the certificates to the parson.

So, sticking both packages of papers in the same pocket, he mounted his horse and rode off.

Reaching the minister's, he stopped and chatted awhile, and, after delivering his papers, he started off again and took the road to the mountains.

The parson had a wedding that day, one of the parties being a notorious horse thief from an adjoining county. When the ceremony was over, the parson selected a certificate from the bundle and unrolled it sufficiently to sign his name. On handing it to the man the latter opened it, and his eye grew wild as he read instead of a marriage certificate a warrant of arrest, signed by both the justice of the peace and by the parson. He feared some trap, so surrendered himself to custody.

When the justice reached the mountain side, he took out the paper to read it and immediately saw its nature, but, maintaining his self possession, he recited the form of summons, which he fortunately remembered.

He then returned and found the horse thief in jail and went and saw the parson, remarking, with his own matrimonial felicity in mind, that both papers had unintentionally served the ends of justice.—University Courier.

Why He Wanted It Printed.

Compositors are supposed to be able to decipher all kinds of handwriting, even that of editors and ministers. On this point Mr. Robert Clark, the Edinburgh printer, used to tell a story:

Professor Lindsay Alexander came into our office one Friday with the manuscript of a sermon.

"You must let me have proofs of this tomorrow," he said.

I told him the time was too short. He must give us a few days longer.

"No," he said. "I must preach this sermon tomorrow. It is a special sermon. I wrote it ten years ago, and now I can't make out a word of it."—Youth's Companion.

Altogether Too Honest.

Hotel Clerk—That lawyer stopping with us is the most honest man I ever heard of.

Landlord—Why?

Clerk—He sits up in a chair and sleeps at night.

Landlord—What's that got to do with it?

Clerk—He says after his day's work is over he doesn't think he ought to lie in bed.—Detroit Free Press.

The First Safety Lamp.

The first claim as an inventor of a safety lamp for use in mines was made by Dr. Clanny of Newcastle, who, in 1818, contrived a ponderous and complicated machine, requiring a boy to work it. This apparatus never became popular. It was found to be too unwieldy.

Realistic.

Critic—Has that painting of yours, "At Work in the Fields," received any favorable comments?

Artist—A rather seedy looking man stopped to look at it today, and he said it made him tired.—Philadelphia Record.

Poll Tax Notice.

OAKLAND, March 4, 1895.

PUBLIC NOTICE is hereby given that the State Poll Tax of Two Dollars for the year 1895 is now due and payable at my office, Room 1, Court House, or to a deputy assessor.

Sec. 3839 of the Political Code reads as follows:

Every male inhabitant of the State, over twenty-one and under 60 years of age, except paupers, insane persons and Indians, not taxed, must annually pay a poll tax of two dollars, provided the same be paid between the first Monday in March and the first Monday in July, then it shall be three dollars.

Sec. 3846 of the Political Code makes it the duty of the Assessor to "demand Poll Tax of every person liable therefor, and on the neglect or refusal of such persons to pay he must collect by seizure and sale of any personal property owned by such person."

Under sections 429 to 434 every person who refuses to give his own name or the name of any person in his employ, or who in any manner obstructs the Assessor or any of his deputies in the collection of the State Poll Tax, is guilty of a misdemeanor, and liable to a fine of $500 or imprisonment in the County Jail, or both such fine and imprisonment.

Only those persons under twenty-one of over sixty years of age are exempt. Poll Tax must be paid on demand.

Henry P. Dalton,

Assessor of Alameda County.

OFFICE OF THE

HER WEDDING PRESENT.

Marie Was No Doubt as Much Surprised as Freddie Was.

Young Mr. Smithers, having eaten an excellent dinner, sat down to smoke a good cigar while his wife ran up stairs to make her toilet for the theater.

So peaceful was his state of mind that he did not even look accusingly at his watch when, after the promised "minute" had developed into 60, she entered the room.

"Seems to me that you are looking very nice tonight, my dear," he remarked.

"I am so glad you think so, darling. Of course I care more for your admiration than that of any one else. Besides the Skinners sit right behind us this evening, and this dress will give her a bad headache before the second act is over."

Mr. Smithers looked anxious. "So that is new, is it? Wasn't the old one good enough?"

"N-not quite, dear. Besides I earned the money for this one myself."

"But how did you earn it?"

"Oh, after you left I fell to thinking what a lot of money $25 was to spend on a wedding present for Marie when I really needed so many things. Then an idea struck me. I remembered all those pretty things I found in your big trunk after we were married—the ones that horrid girl, whoever she was, sent back when the engagement was broken. I wouldn't have one of them myself, but it seemed a pity for them to lie there, so I went up stairs and looked them all over. I selected that lovely silver backed mirror and cleaned it up until it looked just like new, and then I—"

"Sold it to buy the dress? I see!"

"Nothing of the kind. I bought the dress with the money you gave me. The mirror I sent to Marie with our best wishes. Won't she be surprised, and—why, Freddie, are you ill?"

"Not at all, my dear! You are quite right. Marie will no doubt be much surprised, for, you see, she herself was the girl who returned those presents: most in all!"—Baltimore Herald.

Right He Was.

"Now," began the orator, "in considering the money question, let us avoid false issues."

"Right you air," shouted Mr. Fall-wheat. "I thort I was buyin $3,000 of 'em once, and it turned out to be saw-dust."—Indianapolis Journal.
